Told my mother she ought to go live down South with the family instead of spending all her time slaving in shoe factories. In Russia they slave for the State, here they slave for Expenses. People rush off to meaningless jobs day after day, you see them coughing in the subways at dawn. They squander their souls on things like "rent," "decent clothes," "gas and electricity," "insurance," behaving like peasants who have just come out of the fields and are so dreadful tickled because they can buy baubles and doodads in stores. My life is going to be a farm where I'll grow my food. I won't do nothing but sit under a tree while my crops are growing, drink homemade wine, write novels to edify my soul, play with my kids, and thumb my nose at the coughing wretches.

Pascualina Diary was a massively popular girl's diary brand in South America in the early 2000's. They offered a modern idea of what a girl should be and should write about in her diaries. It prompted girls to be independent thinkers and to question themselves at a very young age.

The history of Pascualina was narrated through its character of the same name. A cartoon character that was made to guide you and mimic many of your intimate thoughts as a pre-teen girl.

2009

A DIARY FOR A MODERN ANONYMOUS WOMAN

Pascualina was born from the memories of writing in the vintage "Pascualina" diaries and agendas the designer grew up writing her most personal childhood thoughts into. Pascualina has grown up, and the pre-teens who were devoted to the diaries have to.

The modern take on Pascualina takes the concept of diary writing, online, where anonymity and privacy are two things that the internet makes us reflect about the most. In this site, you can write down anything that comes to your mind at any time, and it will be stored anonymously, only using your IP address to access what you have written before. You can also access everything that has ever been published on the site if you want a taste of voyeurism in the intimate minds of everyone who has ever submitted into Pascualina.

As we grow up, the need of feeling understood and not alone doesn't fade away, we crave it still, sometimes even more. Through Pascualina you can vent your thoughts and then read the ones of your anonymous fellow struggling humans out there just trying to feel heard and understood.
